4. CAPABILITIES:

The Sigonella VTF offers the following services:

Outpatient Care and Vaccinations.

Lab Services: These are provided as deemed necessary for the diagnosis of diseases (parvo for dogs, feline leukemia test for cats etc.) or recommended routinely with annual checkups (heartworm, fecals etc).

Surgical Care: The following surgeries are performed on a time-available basis: female spays, male neuters, cat declaws, dental procedures, orthopedics and a variety of other surgeries.

Over-the-Counter Products: Various products such as flea products, heartworm preventative, shampoos, pet vitamins etc. are sold over the counter during working hours.

5. ACCESS:

Sick Calls and vaccinations are seen by appointment only. Appointments are made by calling a week prior, Monday through Friday. Elective surgeries are performed on a time available basis, call one week in advance to set up the appointment.

6. REFERRALS:

If the medical care is beyond the veterinarians capabilities the patients are referred to local national veterinary clinics.

7. EMERGENCY CARE:

During working hours, emergency walk-in patients are seen at the discretion of the veterinarian and in accordance with existing priorities. Local veterinary clinics are the main source of emergency care. A list of Italian veterinarians and translation sheet is available at the veterinary clinic.

U. S. Naval Air Station Sigonella-About Us

The U.S. Naval Air Station Sigonella is the premier logistics base in the Mediterranean and a vital component in supporting key military operations within the European Theater. NAS Sigonella, which is home to about 7,200 military and civilian personnel, including family members, has rapidly expanded its mission as the hub of naval operations in the Mediterranean Sea. NAS Sigonella provides logistical and fleet support to U.S. military and NATO forces throughout the Mediterranean and Middle East.

Veterinary Services are provided by the Department of the Army, Southern Europe Veterinary Detachment, Central Mediterranean Branch, located in Building #162, NAS I, Sigonella. The mission of Veterinary Services is to ensure the quality, safety and wholesomeness of all food products provided to the military community. In addition, veterinary services provide complete medical care to military working dogs and privately owned animals with available time and resources.
